SEAN TRAYNOR PHOTO BIO

Sean Traynor is a retired executive living in Atlantic Beach, who has traveled extensively as a nature photographer to Africa, Antarctica, the North Pole, the Peruvian Amazon, and Borneo.
In addition, he has traveled to Brazil's Pantanal to photograph jaguars in the wild, as well as Japan in winter, for the snow monkeys and Japanese cranes.
Besides wildlife photography, he is an experienced landscape photographer having photographed extensively in the Canyonlands, Monument Valley, Yosemite, Tanzania, Madagascar, Namibia, New Zealand, Australia, Tuscany as well as Maine and, of course, Florida. He is an occasional photo contributor to local newspapers and a frequent speaker at local photo clubs.

The following is just a sampling of Sean's work— showing images representing a variety of locations from the North Pole to the South Pole. See many more at Sean-Traynor.com.
